

Family Service
of Rhode Island
FOR BRIGHTER FUTURES

Annual Report 2011

- Nine out of ten people completing a survey would recommend us to a family member or friend.
- More than nine out of ten people receiving intensive home-based behavioral health services were discharged to a lower level of care.
- Nine out of ten people served in our Homeless Prevention program in Providence sustained stable housing at their three month follow-up visit.
- More than nine out of ten families receiving Providence Police Go-Team/ Providence Police Liaison services and completing a survey reported that they received the help they needed.
- Student attendance at our Mount Pleasant Academy program consistently averaged above 90%.

Commitment to Quality Changes Lives

“Before I received help I didn’t think I would graduate high school or get a job. With . . . (Family Service of RI’s) . . . help I received my high school diploma and a job.”

Such testimonials are common – yet each one is unique and represents a brighter future for a child, mom, dad, grandparent or someone else facing life challenges. These stories also reflect the high quality of our work, made possible through excellent staff, commitment to research-based care, and measurement and accountability.

At Family Service of RI we have a unique Performance and Quality Improvement Program which monitors our work continuously so we are the best provider possible for the children, youth and adults entrusting us with their care. The Performance and Quality Improvement Program helps us capitalize on our strengths, mitigate our weaknesses, and ultimately improve the lives of Rhode Islanders in need. We measure whether the people we serve are satisfied with the care they receive; how mental health symptoms improved; whether a specific program is effective; and more. At left is a sampling of data gathered in recent months.

These and other data are a source of pride for all of us at Family Service of RI; more importantly, they mean life is improving for youngsters and adults across our state.

In addition to our Performance and Quality Improvement Program, we bring in an outside accreditor – the Council on Accreditation (COA) – every four years to review our services, fiscal operations, facilities, and leadership. In 2010 it measured us against national standards of best practices to ensure services, to quote COA, “are accessible, appropriate,

OUR MISSION

To build social service partnerships that respond creatively to the unmet needs of individuals, families and the community so that people are able to live independently, advocate for themselves, and better their own lives.

culturally responsive, evidence-based and outcomes-oriented.” At the same time, it reviewed, for the first time in both organizations’ histories, AIDS Project RI, which became a division in 2008, and Lucy’s Hearth, which joined as an affiliate in 2007. COA found that our work meets the highest standards.

“Unsurpassed professionalism – definitely feel my family is being guided on a ... successful path.”

We are rarely comfortable with our achievements. Too often we forget to reflect on what we’ve accomplished, whether we are case managers, teachers, board members, clinicians or administrative staff. We’re too busy taking on the next challenge, or reconstituting ourselves and our services to meet the ever-changing needs of the people of Rhode Island.

So, I’ll take this opportunity: thank you children, youth and adults who partner with us in your care; thank you dedicated women and men on our staff and board of directors; thank you donors, stakeholders and friends for supporting us as we take on the many new challenges facing Rhode Islanders; thank you to our colleagues at partnering agencies who join with us to improve services; thank you to all helping us to challenge ourselves tirelessly to achieve the ultimate measure of success: a better quality of life, a brighter future for those who come to us for care.

NEWS

In a ceremonial presentation in April, 2011, Bettina Crisafulli and Frederick Crisafulli, MD, and Renee Vogel, MD and Benjamin Vogel, MD (in photo) turned over the keys to 9 Pleasant Street, Providence to Family Service of RI. The building, which will be an additional location for the agency, was formerly a medical facility. Many thanks to the Crisafullis and Vogels for this most generous donation!

Family Service of RI and the Providence Police Department are honored with a national public safety award. Sponsored by the MetLife Foundation and administered by the Local Initiatives Support Corporation, the MetLife Foundation Community-Police Partnership Award recognizes partnerships between community organizations and local police departments that reduce crime and spur positive development in low-income communities. The “On the Beat Multilingual Police Liaison Program” was selected for the honor from more than 700 applicants nationwide.

The Council on Accreditation (COA), an international accrediting organization, re-accredits Family Service of RI. The accrediting process is a rigorous review of an organization's programmatic, fiscal, and governance operations. Family Service of RI has voluntarily sought and received COA accreditation for decades. Accreditation is a sign of excellence. Lucy's Hearth, included in this review as an affiliate, earned accreditation for the first time. AIDS Project RI, which merged into Family Service of RI in 2008, also was accredited for the first time.

Family Service of RI and partners create the Providence Children's Initiative for the Lower South Providence Neighborhood. Based on months of research, training at the Harlem Children's Zone in New York, and community input, Lower South Providence was chosen as the site for the Providence Children's Initiative. "PCI," as it is known, is creating a pre-kindergarten through college continuum of services to promote positive educational, economic and social outcomes. PCI is inspired by the Harlem Children's Zone, called by the New York Times "one of the most ambitious social service experiments of our time," and featured in the acclaimed 2010 documentary Waiting for Superman. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were raised from the local business and philanthropic community to support PCI.

Bank of America market president William Hatfield received the 2010 Brighter Futures Award. The award is given annually by Family Service of RI to salute those improving the lives of the Ocean State's children.

You Rock!

Family Service of RI CEO Margaret Holland McDuff was the recipient of the 2010 Child Welfare Leadership Award from the Alliance for Children and Families. The award is given annually to recognize an individual who makes a significant impact on public opinion and awareness about children's issues and services. The Alliance is a national association of non-profit human services providers in the U.S. and Canada.

Bank of America, National Grid were honored as Family Service of RI's 2010 Partners in Philanthropy. Bank of America has been a vital force behind Family Service of RI's annual event, Brighter Futures—a critical fundraiser and a popular lunchtime gathering for the business community. In addition to its longtime support of Brighter Futures, National Grid, in 2010, became a major supporter of the Providence Children's Initiative, a project led by Family Service of RI to improve educational, economic and social outcomes for low-income children and families. Representatives from both companies received recognition at the November, 2010 Philanthropy Day event, sponsored by the Association of Fundraising Professionals.

COLLABORATIONS

Family Service of RI is a statewide leader in harnessing the power of partnering to effect monumental change for children and families. Nearly all our programs collaborate regularly with a cross-section of social service, medical, job training and educational providers, including a number of school districts.

In addition, Family Service of RI led the successful 2008 merger of AIDS Project RI, a leader in HIV/AIDS services, into the agency's family of services. In 2007 Lucy's Hearth, a Middletown, RI shelter for homeless women and their children, became an affiliate agency.

Family Service of RI has also facilitated a number of formal collaborations, including:

Family Care Community Partnerships Family Service of RI participates in two Family Care Community Partnership collaborations: in Providence, as the leader of the Partnership for Families (see next page), and as a member of a collaboration in the West Bay. Family Care Community Partnerships provide linkage to and coordination of a wide range of services for children/youth and their families.

Ocean State Network for Children & Families

Ocean State Network for Children and Families Guided by a cross-section of member organizations, and led by Family Service of RI, this is a separate non-profit dedicated to streamlining access to an array of child welfare, juvenile justice, and related services.

Homeless Prevention Family Service of RI leads a collaboration to prevent homelessness in Providence and Lucy's Hearth leads a similar collaboration in Newport County.

Partnership for Families A non-profit corporation, led by Family Service of RI and including other non-profits, that implements the Family Care Community Partnership for the Providence area.

Police, Victims Services Collaborations Family Service of RI has been a leader in developing innovative programs to help victims and prevent crime. In Providence our award-winning work with the police includes 24/7 response to violent incidents in which children and families have been involved; staff patrolling with the police to prevent family crises; and community-building to reduce drug trafficking. In East Providence, staff rides with the police to intervene in family crises and to follow up on domestic violence cases. In addition, we collaborate with Roger Williams University to provide training for new victim services professionals and volunteers.

Providence Children's Initiative Inspired by the Harlem Children's Zone and led by Family Service of RI, the Providence Children's Initiative works to improve educational and social development outcomes for children and families in Providence. It coordinates educational and social service providers to build strong collaborative partnerships within the community.

Quality Care Company A for-profit corporation that created Solutions CEDARR, which provides services for families with children with special health care needs.

PROGRAMS

Unless otherwise noted, for information about all programs, please call 331-1350. For intake/screening 519-2280.

Child/Youth Services

Central Falls Schools Restorative Practices We are instituting the Restorative Practices model throughout the Central Falls School District for students and faculty. Restorative Practices teach students community-appropriate social behavior, and focus on keeping youth:

- * on track to graduate from high school;
- * living in a nourishing family context;
- * mentally and physically healthy;
- * in good standing with law enforcement and the community.

Family Service of RI serves as the lead agency for a network of partnerships supporting Restorative Practices, and provides Restorative Specialists to work in the schools to implement the model. Family Service of RI also provides crisis intervention and counseling. Please see, also, Family Care Community Partnerships in this section.

“She is very good at listening to my issues and offering great clinical advice and goals . . .”

Early Intervention (EI) Provides a range of services for children from birth to age 3 with or at risk of developmental delays.

Family Care Community Partnerships (FCCP) Provide linkage to and coordination of a wide range of community-based services and supports to assist families with children /youth at risk of involvement with the state and /or needing involvement with multiple systems to address needs relating to serious emotional or behavioral conditions or juvenile justice incarceration. The partnerships utilize a high fidelity wraparound approach. Providence, Cranston, Pawtucket, Central Falls (see Central Falls Restorative Practices in this section); and West Bay (1-866-840-6532).

NEW!

Family Coaching and Visitation Center Providing coaching and supervised visitation for children and families who have suffered maltreatment. HIV/AIDS

Prevention and social services for people living with HIV/AIDS.

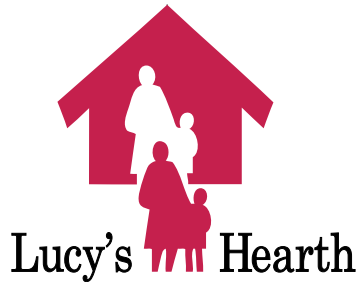

Website: www.aidsprojectri.org

AIDS Project RI was founded more than twenty years ago to provide compassionate, non-judgmental and collaborative response to the needs of people infected, affected and at risk of HIV/AIDS. Over the years, it became a recognized statewide leader on HIV/AIDS issues. In 2008, AIDS Project RI merged with Family Service of RI, linking its continuum of services to that of Family Service of RI, streamlining the delivery of services. 831-5522.

Apartments for adults living with HIV/AIDS Six units located at a single site in Providence.

Homeless/Housing Related

Homeless Prevention Family Service of RI leads a collaboration of service providers in Providence. Lucy's Hearth leads a collaboration, which includes Family Service of RI, in Newport County. 847-2021.

“One of the most unique things about Lucy's Hearth is how it feels like home . . . My children and I were able to live like a family.”

Website: www.lucyshearth.org

Lucy's Hearth Shelter for women and their children. Located in Middletown, RI. A Family Service of RI affiliate agency. 847-2021. Lucy's Hearth was incorporated in 1984 and opened its doors as an overnight shelter with one staff person, a budget of only $20,000, and a dedicated group of volunteers. As the need for shelter increased and more funding became available, it became a 24-hour shelter and expanded programs and services to address the many issues faced by homeless women with children. In 2007, Lucy's Hearth became an affiliate of Family Service of RI.

Mental Health

Children's Treatment and Recovery Center Part of the National Child Traumatic Stress Network, this is a clinical program for children who have been the victim of abuse and/or neglect. Family Service of RI is the first and only Ocean State organization to belong to this network, which was established by Congress to raise the standard of care and increase access to service for traumatized children and their families.

“My case manager has been invaluable during this past year . . . She has guided me through the process of gaining my life back after 15 years of an on and off drug addiction. With her motivating me I now have 16 months in recovery. I am in the process of becoming more independent.”

Community Support Program / Community Psychiatric Support Treatment

Intensive, community-based mental health treatment and case management for children and adults.

Exeter / West Greenwich / North Kingstown / Westerly Schools

Clinical outpatient services for children and families, in-school or after school. Home visits to ensure children and family needs are met.

Home-based Clinical Services Includes intensive clinical and case management services for children, adolescents and adults. Family Service of RI also has a partnership with Tides Family Services for youth involved with the juvenile justice and child welfare systems.

In-Home Outpatient Program For children and adults needing psychotherapy and case management in a home setting.

Intensive Home-based Services For Medicaid-eligible children up to age 18 (or 21 in some instances) with serious emotional/behavioral crises requiring more than traditional outpatient counseling. A similar program for children with commercial insurance is Child and Family Intensive Treatment (CFIT).

Outpatient Mental Health/Substance Abuse Counseling/Psychiatric Services

For adults, children and adolescents. Office-based in Providence, Newport (Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Community Center) and Westerly (Westerly High School's WISSP Center). Daytime emergency and urgent clinical evaluations are available in the community, home or office for children, adolescents and adults with United Healthcare or Beacon/Neighborhood Health Insurance.

Outreach to Newport Area Families in Crisis Counseling and referral provided in partnership with the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Community Center.

Providence Schools Psychiatric evaluations for students with diagnosed disabilities and/or potentially disabled students. Consultations to special education administrators.
