

Whatever you are, be a good one.

Family Service of Rhode Island was one of the first social-service agencies in Rhode Island to achieve national accreditation from the Council on Accreditation (COA). Every four years, we go through an in-depth review. We have just been notified that the COA on-site accreditation team has ranked each and every one of our services and operations at the highest level of excellence!

What does this mean?

To our clients:

- Counseling, therapy, education and support that bring hope and change lives

To our donors and funders:

- Best business practices and accountability

To our employees:

- A positive work environment designed to build careers

To Rhode Island:

- A nationally accredited, world-class resource dedicated to a healthy community
